The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 10, 12, 26, 53, 67 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 10, 26, 53 and 67, it is not seen how the thermal conductivity of the tip surrounding piece is less than itself.

In claim 12, proper antecedent basis is needed for "said heater."

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,2,4,5,8-18, 20,21,24-34, 36-40, 42-44, 46-51, 53-58, 60-65, 67-70 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese Patent 6143358.

Japanese Patent discloses a nozzle body 6 having a melt flow passage, a tip 10 removably connected to said nozzle, a tip surrounding piece 11 and a ceramic alignment piece positioned between said tip and said tip surrounding piece.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 3, 19, 41, 45, 52, 59, 66 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese Patent 6143358 as applied to claims 1,2,4,5,8-18, 20,21,24-34, 36-40, 42-44, 46-51, 53-58, 60-65, 67-70 above, and further in view of Swenson et al. (US Patent 5,980,237).

While '348 does not disclose the tip surrounding piece having a thermal conductivity less than the tip, the tip 44 of Swenson et al. is disclosed as having a higher conductivity than the surrounding piece 46 in order to maintain the plastic at a high temperature. See column 4, line 37 et seq.

Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the tip of '348 of a higher thermal conductivity than the surrounding piece in order to maintain the plastic at a higher temperature as suggested by Swenson.

Claims 6,7,22,23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
